

Complimentary Webcast

ECONOMY WATCH

USMCA 2.0: Trade Uncertainty in North America

June 10, 2026 @ 11AM ET

Complimentary Webcast

Sign up now

Just days after taking office, the Trump Administration announced new 25% tariffs on Mexico and Canada. Shortly thereafter, a volley of additional tariffs targeting dozens of other countries were unveiled on 'Liberation Day.'

While many deals were struck over the year that followed, the future of North America's largest trade agreement remains uncertain.

The US-Mexico-Canada Agreement (USMCA) is currently under review, and major changes, or perhaps even its demise, are possible this year.

Erin McLaughlin

Senior Economist
The Conference Board

Gillian Riley
President
The Conference Board (Canada)

Erik Lundh
Senior Economist, Global
The Conference Board

Join the next ECONOMY WATCH webcast to explore:

- What is the US Mexico Canada Trade Agreement?
- Why is the deal so important for North America?
- Why is the deal under review, and what are the key sticking points among negotiators?

Register \(Complimentary\)

 Weds, Jun 10
 11 AM ET

*Live webcasts include the opportunity for Q&A with presenters, and access to slides and related materials. Can't make the date? Register to receive the highlights.